From Saturday February 9. to Tuesday February 12. 1717.

St. James's, Feb. 11.

AN humble Addreſs of the Biſhop and Clergy of the Dioceſs of St. Aſaph, has been preſented to His Majeſty by the Right Reverend the Lord Biſhop of St. Aſaph, introduced by the Right Honourable James Stanhope, Eſq; one of His Majeſty's principal Secretaries of State.

Dreſden, Feb. 10. By an Expreſs from Warſaw we have received Advice, that on the 30th of laſt Month about eight a Clock at Night, the Ratifications of the Treaty of Pacification were exchanged; that the Day following a Dyet was aſſembled extraordinarily, as had been agreed by the Treaty, and all the Articles being read, the King and the States of the Republick gave their Approbation and Aſſent to them. Since which the Treaty has been begun to be put in Execution on the King's Part, the Saxon Troops being actually on the March to return to this Country, and an Order is diſpatched to Kuningſtein for ſetting at Liberty M. Jablonowski, Palatine of Ruſſia, who has been a Priſoner there a long time. Some Letters tell us, that Prince Dolhoroucki had ſent Order to the Ruſſian Troops which were commanded by General Ronne lately deceaſed, to retire towards their own Country; but we do not learn that the like Order has yet been ſent to the other Body of Ruſſians commanded by General Bauer, now in Great Poland. In the Dyet above-mentioned, the King, as well as all the Members of the Dyet, took an Oath reciprocally to obſerve the Treaty inviolably: And the particular Dyets of every Palatinate will be ſpeedily held, in order to the more thorough Settlement of the Peace of the Kingdom. All being now quiet, the King deſigns to make a Journey into this Country towards the End of this Month.

Paris, Feb. 17. N. S. The Court has received Advice from Avignon, that on the 6th Inſtant the Pretender left that Place, and on the 9th arrived at Romans in Dauphiné. He deſigned to be at Montmelian on the 14th, to ſtay there the 15th; and then to proceed to paſs Mount Cenis. The King's Ratifications of the Treaty of Defenſive Alliance, between Great Britain, France, and the States General of the United Netherlands, are ſent to the Marqueſs de Chateauneuf Ambaſſadour at the Hague, in order to be exchanged.

Whitehall, Feb. 11. His Majeſty has been graciouſly pleaſed to grant the Dignities of Baroneſs and Viſcounteſs of Great Britain to Margaret the Daughter of the Right Honourable Thomas Lord Coningesby, by the Name Style and Title of Baroneſs of Hampton-Court in the County of Hereford, and Viſcounteſs Coningesby of Hampton-Court in the ſaid County. The Dignity of Baron and Viſcount to deſcend to her Heirs Male.
